Wishes for you, classmates and friends, a wealth of pleasure from the memories these pages awaken of the golden days we have lived together.

Dedication

We all know of your ability in the classroom, but it is not for this alone; it's for those little things,—the fine Christian example, the unfailing sympathy, the understanding counsel and advice, the hours and hours of tireless work and energy that have been spent on each splendid program and on each edition of the Rainier Vista which you have helped to grow into existence,—for these and many other reasons we are proud to dedicate this, the 1947 RAINIER VISTA to you, Mrs. A. J. Olson.

Lovingly,

The Associated Students of

Auburn Academy

We Hope for the New Dormitory

And as we start to recount the interests and the scenes which this year has imprinted on our minds we begin with that absorbing theme of the new dormitory for girls. This is, after all, our big interest and our big need. Last year our A. S. B. project was toward this building; this year our eyes are turned toward the few people who are carrying the heavy responsibility of raising the funds to complete it, and of seeing the building finished. These men are our board members: Don H. Spillman, chairman of the board; A. J. Olson, secretary, D. L. Olson, M. G. Dealy, A. J. Gordon, J. L. Osborne, A. E. Green, Clyde Nelson, V. R. Jewett, Cree Sandefur.

These men, we realize, bear a heavy burden for its completion. We want them to know that we appreciate their interest in the young people of the Washington Conference. We realize the fact that if these men were not working untiringly to discharge this heavy responsibility toward us, as the young people in need, and if we should fail to back them up, it could still be possible that this great need would not be filled. But they are seeing it through, and we will! back them. and we do thank them!

The new dormitory is a three story building 240 feet long and 40 feet wide. The ground floor will house the cafeteria service consisting of modern kitchen, cold storage and freezing room, serving room and dining room, seating over 300 students. There will also be a Rose Room or banquet hall which can be used for faculty, senior and junior as well as other class events. The ground floor will also have a worship room seating about 170 girls, as well as ping pong room and girls' private laundry.

The massive appearing front entrance leads to the upper floor or dormitory section of this building. There will be 65 rooms for 110 girls. The first of these two floors will be a well planned parlor, music room and a reading room in one end. The fireplace will add a "homey" touch to the parlor and the two large plate glass windows will afford an unusual and unsurpassed view of Mt. Rainier. On the same floor are located the dean's apartment, the guest room and the matron's suite as well as the medical room.

Of All Our Memories Those Touching the Life of the Soul Were the Closest

Students Pour Out of the "Ad" Building at Close of Chapel

My Old Chapel Seat

My old chapel seat! I see in dream
That dear old spot, and in vision seem
To be hearing the bell in its plaintive call,
That drew from out classroom, and office, and hall,
The familiar folk,—teacher, classmate and friend—,
As youthful hearts would heavenward bend.

The multiple scenes in vision I see
Which memory paints in kindness, to be
A treasure of sweetness and joy for the days
That follow in life's stern, exacting ways.

My dear old pal sat beside me there;
I remember his face, the comb of his hair,
His tender word, understanding smile,
As we shared the chapel hour the while.
Friends were there that came, then slipped from sight
Like the lighted ships that pass in the night.
Like the ships that touch a harbor fair,
And leave some cargo rich and rare,
They have left their influence, good and true,
And a wealth of memories of friendship, too.

That hallowed spot in the Hour of Prayer
When we sought for Light in the quiet there,
Lifted the veil from my mortal eyes
To a hallowed vision of paradise.
Oh the blessed joy of the Vesper Hour
When Heaven touched our eyes with a sight of power
That the Master waits to give the youth
Who earnestly, pantingly thirst for truth.

My heart goes back to that dear old place
That held visions of life's unfolding grace,
And the songs we'd sing at eventide
In the dear old school by life's roadside.

Time changes things, and we soon find
These scenes must all be left behind,
'Til the Day of Days when by God's own hand
We'll be led to meet in that better land
Where home is forever, and friends shall be
Our constant joy, not a memory,
And where chapel hours will all be known
As the gathering hours around God's throne.

The M. V. Sunshine Band

Those Sabbath afternoon hours when we took the bus and went out to do missionary work brought rich rewards in the joy of service.

The Seminar, too, brought inspiration and opportunity to those who were interested in ministerial or Bible workers' or other missionary activity.

A Sabbath Afternoon Stroll

We Lived Amidst Natural Beauty

And more than once have we strolled through the "coolth" of the woods in the early warm spring days,—smelled the delicious freshness of a new-born year. And in the winter, too, we enjoyed the out-of-doors; we skiied, and we snowballed, and sometimes we just hiked. We've laughed and we've played over these mountains of ours, and accepted the challenge of the trailless forests and have found out some of the secrets of Nature. Sometimes we just hiked or tried our strength by running around The Triangle. But whatever we did, we never forgot the beauty of the woods through which our path took us. And sometimes we sang as we walked—sometimes, especially on Friday evenings, we serenaded the neighbors on the way. Oh, that was fun!

Boy's Prayer Band

If you had had a glimpse into various ones of the boys' rooms at regular intervals, you would have seen scenes similar to the one above, while the prayer bands were in progress. This was a band of some of the boys in Gibson Hall. The girls had similar organizations.

And no student who has had the privilege of attending Auburn Academy would ever forget the quiet, thoughtful hours of the vesper services on Friday evenings. Above all others these devotional times have the fondest and dearest place in our hearts.

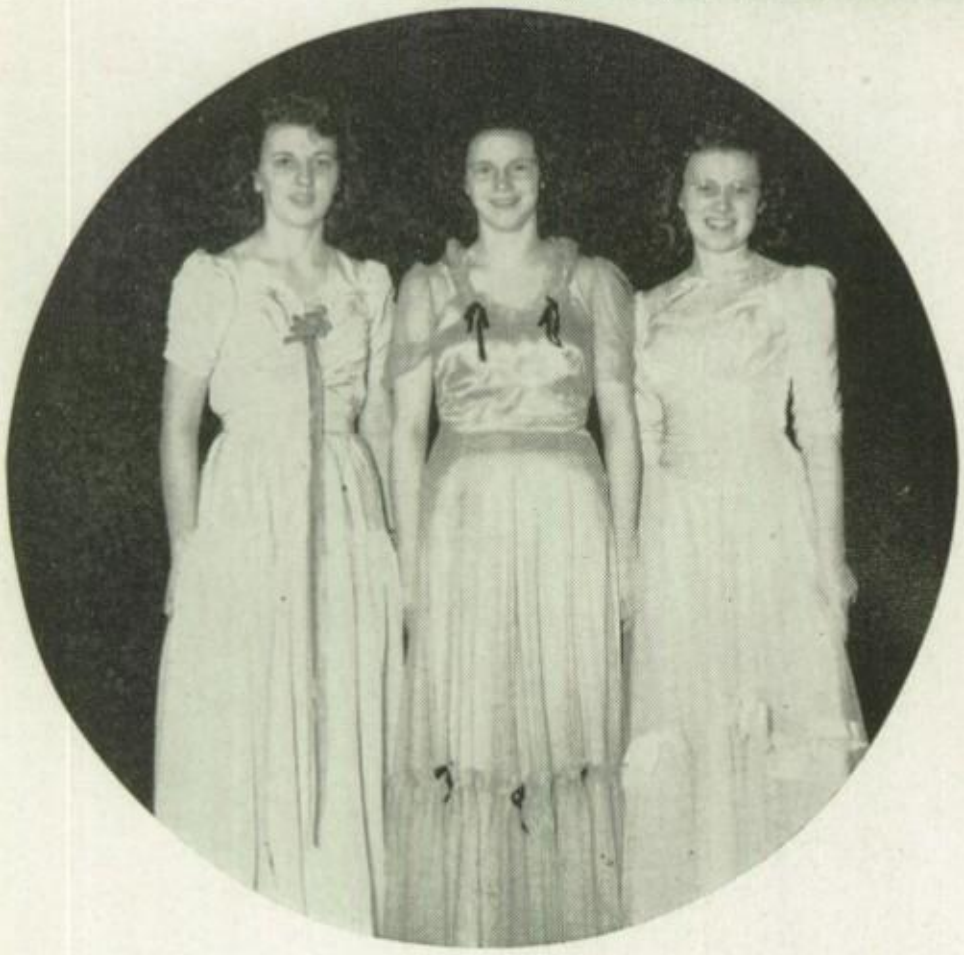
The Girls' Chorus



The Girls' Trio

If we didn't already have music in our hearts we were likely to imbibe it from the atmosphere of so much music that filled the air. Maybe it was a lively concert sung by the Girls' Chorus; maybe it was "The World Is Mine Tonight" by the double mixed quartette: maybe the Trumpet Trio filled the air with stirring strains of melody; maybe the Girls' Trio trilled a sweet lullaby; perhaps it was the martial airs of Sousa's marches; or maybe it was the transporting theme of the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah," that the chorus sang, or the soft strains of "Beside the Still Waters" that put us into the mood for worship on Sabbath morning.

We Used Our Heads and===

Harlan Paddock and Forrest Robertson and Henry Putnam turn their energies to usefulness in the woodworking class. Harlan and Forrest are hoping to have boats finished for summer use, while Henry and others in the class aspire to fine furniture, and such handwork.

Dorothy Parrish, Jane Thomas, Isabelle Gregerson, Marjorie Mundy, Jo Ann Cooper and Juni Ellwanger are amongst the lucky ones to be able to learn to cook in the new and modern Home Economics Department.

We Also Used Our Hands

"He Got the Job" was the name of this play in which the Public Speaking Class demonstrated what not to do and what to do to land a job. In this scene one of the boys who hopes to get the job is having an interview with the boss.

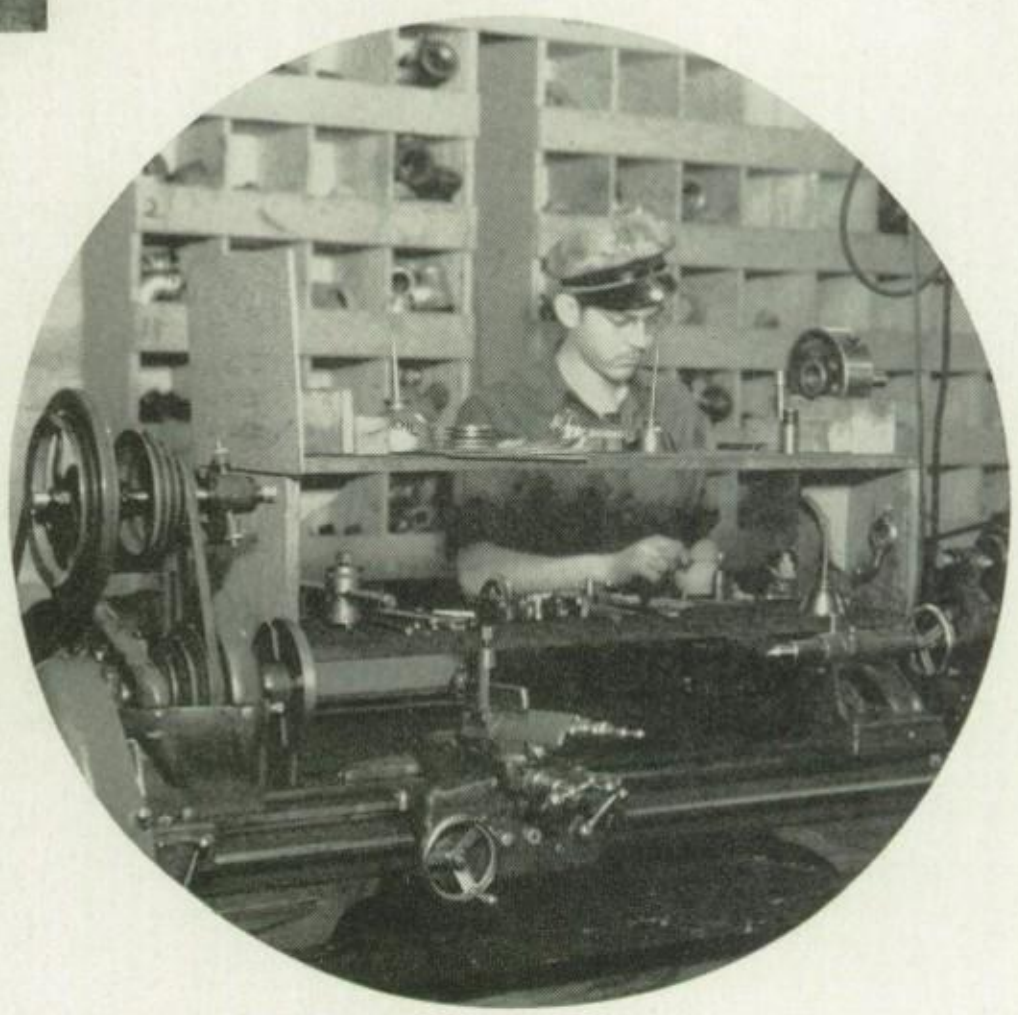
We Earned as

A quiet, rural atmosphere is never far away. If you long for farm life or a little variety by way of animals, you are sure to find it somewhere around the wide acres of the school farm. Here Nona finds interesting diversion testing a young calf's ability to eat grass.



You would wonder if you were looking into the science "lab" here. Well, it is the lab for the metal shop class. Dave Holder does wonders with this big machine and others provided for the work to be done by the boys in this class.

This is the moment we always looked forward to. Somehow, those fresh, crisp salads, steaming hot potatoes and gravy and other good foods we could pick up along the cafeteria counter warmed our hearts and our stomachs.

We Learned

Lorin Hixson, Stanley Desjardins and Jim Holder had a pleasant spot in the new Utility Building to work as they kept the boilers going to keep us warm.

And Bruce was one of the faithful at the big machines in the woodshop.

And here, you will remember, you could always see the pleasant faces of the girls who ironed your shirts and dresses and blouses, in the new laundry in the Utility Building

The Junior-Senior Banquet Amidst the Pines in the Gymnasium.

We Had Our Own Projects and Activities

We Took Time to Play

At the end of the day when our classes were all over and we had time to relax from a long day of studies and work, we were refreshed by going to the gym to let off some excess energy. Sometimes we skated, sometimes we had basket ball, and sometimes when those spring days came we played outdoors. But you will remember how we did love the skating.

In the fall and as soon as the sun began peeking from behind the clouds in spring we looked out and saw students playing baseball. We were all glad when it was still light after supper so we could have play periods. And nobody will forget the ping pong and volley ball games on those wonderful campus days and picnics followed by the lunches at Happy Corner. We'll never forget that delicious hot chocolate and the glutenburger sandwiches. We all have a big soft spot in our hearts for Mrs. Cheney even if we did have to wait in line for what seemed hours and hours. We've had lots of snow this year and what wonderful times we had playing in it. We shouldn't think the nurse enjoyed it very much though because of all the colds and sickness we brought upon ourselves.

"Christianity will make a man a gentleman", says the inspired Word, and just as truly, it will make a woman a lady. Therefore, young people in Christian schools should be the most refined and cultured.

This is the purpose of our Casa Loma and Zeta Kappa,—the boys' and girls' clubs at Auburn Academy. This purpose is embodied in the motto of each club. Casa Loma means "Loyal to the Royal in Thyself" and Zeta Kappa "Beauty of Character."

Culture is the aim of each weekly program which opens with the club song and flag salute. The entertainment which follows the weekly business of the club is usually brought to us in good music, pictures and sometimes skits which test the originality of each participant.

These clubs develop poise, as a different student is responsible for each week's program, and as each girl or boy has opportunity of being master of ceremonies of the program he has prepared.

The high light of the year is the banquet sponsored by either the boys or girls, depending on whose turn it may be. As this is usually a semi-formal occasion, best manners are learned and developed so that even in our fun and entertainment we are ever reaching toward our aim—culture.

The Point Again

Just Waiting

Well, it's done! that job of putting together the Annual. But when I close my eyes, at the end of it, I seem to see all sorts of scenes and faces—familiar as any of the rest in this book. They float in vision before me: I really needed lots more pages to tell the whole story. There's Mrs. Gish, amongst the ferns and pines; and then there was that flash of lightning during the big snow storm; then there are all those campus scenes that seem to drape themselves around the familiar old gym. Oh, well, how could we have gotten in all the lovely things we remember anyway?

General Information

DESCRIPTIVE

A new power plant building, housing the new 175 horsepower high pressure boiler, the two old boilers and with space available for the power plant soon to be installed, has just been completed. This building also contains the well-equipped class room for metal shop class and also the maintenance department. Construction of the new girls' dormitory, which will contain a dining room seating over 300 students and rooms for 110 girls, is nearing completion. All dormitory rooms should be ready for use before school opens this fall.

The location of the school is unusually attractive, on the edge of a plateau overlooking the Green River Valley, with the snow-covered Olympics visible in the west, and beautiful Mount Rainier dominating the landscape toward the east. The buildings are set in a campus of several acres, which is fringed on three sides with evergreens of various kinds. The academy farm consists of about 225 acres, most of which is improved and growing good crops. A new farm with a good dairy barn was purchased recently. The school now has a fine dairy heard of nearly 40 cows to provide milk and cream for the dining depatment, as well as about 600 hens to supply the kitchen with fresh eggs.

The administration building contains, in addition to offices, music studios and class rooms, the chapel seating about 300, and the dining room with a seating capacity of 250. The library, with about 3000 volumes, is also located in this building. As soon as the dining room in the new girls' dormitory is completed, the old dining room will be converted into a large library and the present kitchen, with store rooms, will be changed to modern laboratories, thus releasing other rooms for much needed class rooms and offices.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

In connection with the academy are a number of organizations, religious and social, which give the students opportunity to develop leadership and their talents of speaking and writing, as well as training in various kinds of missionary work.

Most prominent of these is the Missionary Volunteer Society, conducted throughout the school year by the students, and working in harmony with the general department. Many active bands carry on the work of this organization, including the Master Comrade, Literature, and Sunshine bands. These bands tend greatly to stimulate missionary activities among the students.

The Academy Sabbath School is conducted largely by the students, assisted by teachers.

The students of the Academy have developed an organization known as the Associated Student Body of Auburn Academy. The purpose of this organization is to promote the social and cultural interest of the student body.

THE STUDENT'S PLEDGE

It is distinctly understood that every student who presents himself for admission to this school thereby pledges himself to observe its regulations, and live in harmony with its ideals and purposes. Unless he is willing to do this freely and without reservation, he will not be admitted to the school. If this pledge is broken, he will be retained only by the sufferance of the faculty for such time as he is not a serious detriment to others. Students who fail to respond to appeals addressed to their manhood or womanhood or sense of honor, and those whose influence is found to be harmful, will not be allowed to remain in the school even if they have been guilty of no specially culpable offense. On the other hand the faculty pledges the parents that they will faithfully endeavor, to the limit of their ability, to help young people who seem not to appreciate the privilege and responsibilities that come to them. No student will be lightly dropped from the school, and parents may be assured that their children will be given every opportunity to develop Christian characters as long as they show a desire to cooperate with the teachers toward that end.

SOCIAL GUIDANCE

To assist the student in moving through the academy life with a minimum of friction and at the same time to contribute to his physical, mental and moral powers is the goal of all academy regulations. A kindly application of the following broad basic principles is the aim of the faculty.

No student is retained who uses tobacco in any form. Nor can the school tolerate profane or indecent language, disorderly conduct, card playing, including rook and other like games, also such games as checkers or chess, gambling, dancing, improper associations, the possessing or reading of novels and story-magazines, visiting of pool rooms or other places of detrimental influence. Neither can students be allowed to attend the theater, moving picture show or any other entertainment of an objectionable character, because these interfere with the student's work and exert a wrong influence in the school.

The seventh day is observed as the Sabbath, and a proper quiet and decorum is expected of all students. Engaging in unnecessary work or improper recreation on this day is out of harmony with the spirit of the institution.

Young men and women may associate in a frank, manly and womanly manner at times and in places that are proper and in harmony with the spirit of the school; but sentimentalism, note writing, flirting, strolling together about the grounds, or elsewhere, loitering about the campus or sitting together in public services are not conducive to the best progress in study or to the good name of the school.

As this academy was established for the purpose of giving a distinctly Christian education, no student is retained who either publicly or secretly seeks to disseminate immoral or atheistic ideas among his fellow students.

The home is not a public building. No lady or gentleman would think of entering a private home without permission; hence people living outside, in calling upon members of the home family are expected to observe the civilities of social convention.

It is expected that all students have respect for academy property, and in case of destruction of property of any kind, such as breaking windows, dishes, or tools, the honest student reports the breakage and settles for it.

Because modesty in dress is conducive to sound character building, students should dress simply and sensibly, avoiding extremes. For girls, simple dresses are recommended. The use of cosmetics, the wearing of French or other extremely high heels, very short skirts, sleeveless dresses, low backs, transparent waists, jewelry such as necklaces, finger rings or bracelets is not in harmony with the principles of the institution. We strongly urge parents to supervise their daughter's wardrobe, and save her embarrassment by eliminating anything out of harmony with these principles.

Students who are not Seventh-day Adventists may attend the Academy without feeling any embarrassment whatever, as long as they do not interfere with the plans for which the school is established.

It is expected that young ladies will be properly chaperoned whenever leaving the campus.

Unmarried students whose parents or legal guardians do not reside in the vicinity of the school should board and room at the Academy. Certain circumstances might arise where an exception should be made in this rule. Such cases will be considered by the faculty upon written request with reasons fully stated by the applicant.

If it seems necessary, or to the best interest of the student, faculty permission may be obtained for correspondence work or private lessons.

Should a student be absent 10 per cent of the class recitations during one semester his grades are subject to a cut of one point (from A to B or B to C etc.). Also should a student be absent as much as 20 per cent of the class meetings in one class he may forfeit his grade. The class work missed can be made up if due to prolonged illness.

The management provides from time to time pleasant social gatherings and outings for the students. All gatherings of whatever nature, have a faculty chaperon, and a list of students invited is submitted to the principal at least two days beforehand.

Parents are requested not to give permissions that conflict with the rules of the school.

All classes are entered or dropped by a voucher signed by the registrar. No firearms are allowed on the school premises.

DORMITORIES

The dormitories are in charge of experienced teachers who understand young people, and are able to help them solve their problems. Constant appeal is made for sincere cooperation on the part of every student in maintaining wholesome standards of living on the principle that kindness and confidence are more efficacious than stringent rules. Careful attention is given to the study of the personality of each student, and methods are employed that will best bring out the individuality of each. In a special way the government of the Home rests upon the mutual good understandings between teacher and pupil.

It frequently happens that students are unexpectedly called for, and inasmuch as the home management should at all times know the whereabouts of those under their charge, no student should leave the campus without permission from the dean of boys or dean of girls.

It is desired that the school be quiet and orderly, and that students shall conduct themselves in a manner consistent with a refined home. Loud talking, running up and down stairs, entering rooms without the consent of the occupant, and scuffling anywhere in the building are out of order.

Picture moulding is provided in all rooms. No tacks should be driven into the walls.

The school home is conducted on the same principles as are well regulated Christian homes. Morning and evening worship are maintained in the school homes throughout the year. The deans who are responsible for the worship hour give careful study to these exercises in order that all may be benefited by attending. Every student is expected to be present, and those in charge of the Home require a reasonable excuse for absence.

All students are expected to attend public services on the Sabbath, unless excused by the dean, in which case they will remain in their own rooms.

Owing to the modern easy means of travel, there is a strong tendency on the part of students and parents for frequent week-end visits home. This, however, has been found to be detrimental to the best interests of the school. Therefore it has been recommended that the faculty do not grant permission for such visits more often than once in six weeks, except in extreme cases. Requests should be made to the dean by the parents, in writing, several days before leave of absence is desired. In all cases the faculty reserves the right to decide as seems necessary for the best interest of the school.

Flesh foods are not served in the dining room, and should not be brought into the school homes.

A student's being absent from the dormitory after evening worship without permission is considered a serious violation of the rules of the dormitory.

All trips farther than Auburn from the school must be authorized by the principal.

The school is not responsible for any personal property left on the premises after a student leaves school.

Phonographs and radios are not permitted in the dormitories.

Do not bring so-called popular music.

WHAT TO BRING

Each student should bring four sheets, three pillow slips, a pillow, and a bed spread, warm blankets or comforters, towels, dresser scarf, and a cover for his study table, 30x48 inches; also work clothes, and a laundry bag. Our denominational books such as The Testimonies, Desire of Ages, Christ's Object Lessons, Steps to Christ, will be of help. No rugs, carpets or window curtains are furnished with the rooms, but should be brought by the student if desired. A few pictures for the walls are desirable. Regina Hall girls should bring curtains for one window 5x3½ feet. Girls who will room in the new dormitory provide curtains for one window 4x4½ feet. Boys should bring curtains for two windows 5x2½ feet. Girls should bring a curtain for clothes closet door which is 6½ x2⅓ feet. The boys' and girls' dormitories are equipped with single beds. Each student should be provided with a pair of noiseless slippers to be worn during study period.

It is suggested that any girl who expects to sing in the choir or chorus, provide herself with a dark skirt—either black or navy blue—and a white long-sleeved shirtwaist style blouse. White satin is suggested. This provides a uniform appearing group upon public performances, and such an article of dress as a dark skirt is always useful in a girl's wardrobe. Boys who expect to take part in glee club, choir, etc., will find a dark suit and white shirts of great service.

MISCELLANEOUS

To remit, send money by draft, check, or money order payable to Auburn Academy, not to an individual.

Mail for students residing in the Homes should be addressed to them, care Auburn Academy, Auburn, Washington.

For those coming by train, tickets should be bought and baggage checked to Auburn, which is reached by all main line railroads. If coming by bus from Seattle to Auburn, take the Enumclaw bus, and ask to be let out at the Academy stop. Those notifying the Academy are met at Auburn.

No student under fourteen years of age is permitted to reside in the school Home unless he has completed the eighth grade or has made special arrangements with the school management.

Students arriving Sunday and Monday of the opening week of school are given free transportation from Auburn to the Academy. Students arriving late are charged for transportation.

Withdrawal: If withdrawal becomes necessary for any reason, the proper method is to secure a drop voucher from the principal in order to avoid necessary charges for expenses. When a drop voucher is obtained all charges are discontinued with the exception of room rent which continues to the end of the current semester. When the reason for leaving before the end of a semester is due to illness or other unavoidable reasons bearing the board's approval the room rent is also discontinued from the date the drop voucher is obtained.

Experience has proven that student automobiles and motorcycles are nearly always detrimental to good work and usually lead to many irregularities; therefore, students are requested to leave these at home.

The school assumes no responsibility in forwarding personal belongings such as clothing, blankets or books to students who withdraw from the school.

Labor credit either by students or parents is not transferable nor redeemable in cash except as authorized by Board action.

HEALTH SERVICE

All students will be expected to have a physical examination before the opening of school. A physical examination blank will be mailed to each prospective student. This must be filled out by a physician, and mailed to the school in advance. Students are urged to see a dentist early in the summer and have all dental needs taken care of before the opening of school. During the war a reasonable number of consultations and the attention of the physician are covered by the medical fee. Hospital care, medicine, laboratory service and operations must be paid for. For the benefit of the students a school nurse is employed by the school. Her attention and care are added to the guidance of the deans of the school homes.
